

About Us

Grey4Green addresses the social exclusion of the elderly, while encouraging them to make a contribution in our fight against climate change and ensuring a sustainable future. This will be done through training courses, volunteering and intercultural exchanges.

With a bit of Grey, we could have a lot more green!

Methodology

Grey4Green uses participatory action research to bring the community closer together. We aim to develop a highly cooperative intervention. This is the best approach for socio-educational program for adults and seniors.

Project objectives

Our specific objectives through this project are:

- Promotion of social inclusion of the elderly
- Active participation in environmental programs
- Supporting the third age sector and ensure high quality of life
- Creating an online observatory (where those asking for volunteers can find them)
- Fighting against climate change
